Well we all have a face	She refused to even answer
That we hide away forever	It was (6) I felt the stranger
And we take them out	Kick me right between the eyes
And show ourselves
When everyone has gone	Well we all fall in love
Some are satin some are steel	But we disregard the danger
Some are silk and some are leather	Though we share so many secrets
They're the faces of the stranger	There are some we never tell
But we (1) to try them on	Why were you so surprised
Well we all fall in love	That you never saw the stranger
But we disregard the danger	Did you ever let your lover see
Though we share so many secrets	The stranger in yourself?
There are some we never tell	Don't be afraid to try again
Why were you so surprised	Everyone goes south
That you (2) saw the stranger	Every now and then
Did you ever let your lover see
The (3) in yourself?	You've done it why can't someone else?
Don't be afraid to try again	You should know by now
Everyone goes south	You've been there yourself
Every now and then	You may never understand
	How the stranger is inspired
You've (4) it, why can't someone else?	But he isn't (7) evil
You should know by now	And he is not always wrong
You've been there yourself	Though you drown in good intentions
Once I used to believe	You will never (8) the fire was such a great romancer	You'll give in to your desire
Then I came home to a woman	When the stranger comes along
That I could not recognize
When I (5) her for a reason
