| When minutes become hours                    |        | But it all   |
|--|--------|--------------|
| When days (1) years                          |        | When yo      |
| And I dont know where you are                |        | I kissed y   |
| Color seems so dull without you              |        | You held     |
| Have we lost our minds?                      |        | You pick     |
| What have we done?                           |        | When I lo    |
| But it all doesnt seem to matter anymore     |        | I can hea    |
| When you (2) me on that street               |        | For a little |
| I kissed you back                            |        | I'm drend    |
| You held me in your arms, I held you in mine |        | I'm no lor   |
| You picked me up to lay me down              |        | When yo      |
| When I (3) into your eyes                    |        | I kissed y   |
| I can hear you cry                           |        | You (8)      |
| For a little bit more of you and I           |        | mine         |
| I'm drenched in your love                    |        | You pick     |
| I'm no longer able to hold it back           |        | When I lo    |
| Is it too late to ask for love?              |        | I can hea    |
| Is it wrong to feel right?                   |        | For a little |
| When the (4) is (5)                          | _ down | I'm drend    |
| Thoughts of you (6) around                   |        | I'm no Ior   |
| Have we lost our minds?                      |        |              |
| What (7) we done?                            |        |              |
