| Standing, on the (1) of forever,                            | There's progress now (17) there (18)            |
|---|---|
| At the start of whatever,                                   | was none,                                       |
| Shouting (2) at the world.                                  | where there (19) was ah, then everything cam    |
| Back then, we (3) like cavemen,                             | along.  |
| We'd beam at the moon and the stars,                        | Although no one understood,                     |
| Then we (4) them.   | we were holding back the flood                  |
| We will meet you (5) the lights are,                        | learning how to dance the rain.                 |
| The defenders, of the faith we are.                         | There was more of them than us                  |
| Where the thunder turns around                              | now they'll never dance again.                  |
| they'll run so hard we'll (6) the ground away.              | Although no one understood                      |
| You (7) no one dies,  | there was more of them than us                  |

| Through our love drowned eyes,                              | We were holding back the flood                  |
| we'll watch you sleep tonight.                              | they said we'd never dance again.               |
| Although no one understood                                  | We (20) (21) you where the lights are,          |
| we were holding back the flood,                             | The defenders, of the faith we are.             |
| Learning how to (11) the rain.                              | Where the thunder turns around                  |
| We were (12) back the flood                                 | they'll run so (22) we'll tear the ground away. |
| they said we'd never (13) again.                            | Although no one understood,                     |
| Bleeding, but none of us leaving,                           | there was more of them than us                  |
| Watch your mouth son or you'll find yourself floating home. | learning how to dance the rain.                 |

| seeing demons, not (14) we are.                             | There was more of them than us                  |
| Tiny minds and (15) hands                                   | now they'll (24) (25) again.                    |
| hands (16) try to strike but now will end today.            | Now we'll never dance again.                    |
